THE DUTY OF TODAY.

O, this night has been long and the way has been hard.

For the men who have toiled for their kind.

The rack and the dungeon have been their reward.

And the sneer of the little of mind.

The Christs have been crucified, martyrs been burned.

The philosophers tortured and slain.

But their spirits once more to the earth have returned.

And their truths have arisen again.

By the lives of these heroes be guided today.

My brothers, and on with the fight.

Be strong and be patient, not faint by the way.

Till the world is brought round to the right.

From the ignorance, prejudice, darkness and gloom.

The injustice and wrong of the past.

We have risen until now we can see the bloom.

Of the morn on the hill tops at last.

The way by the blood of the prophets was wet.

But they toiled not, and died not in vain.

For the words of these prophets are guiding us yet.

To the triumphs we yet shall attain.

The night of the ages gives way to the dawn.

While the race is as yet in its youth.

Then face to the future, my brothers and on.

Till the world is brought over to truth.

MRS. PARMELIA ANN TOLLE.

Death Last Evening of This Aged Lady at Her Home in the Sixth Ward.

THE LEDGER is called upon to chronicle the death of another old citizen who passed to the Paradise of God last evening at 7 o'clock, Mrs. Parmelia Ann Tolle, consort of Mr. Hiram H. Tolle.

In the death of this aged servant of God a pleasant married life of fifty-six years duration is now severed, and one son, Mr. W. A. Tolle, our worthy fellow-townsmen, is bereft of a dear old mother.

Born in Virginia in 1824 and early coming to Mason county, she has ever since been a resident. Two brothers are now living in the old home of deceased who sit in the shadow of this great sorrow.

Mrs. Tolle was a remarkable woman in many respects, not the least of which was her physical power of endurance. Vigorous, strong and careful, she so well husbanded her resources as to stay any illness till the attack which proved her death.

Of the old stock of early Baptists, she walked in the light of that faith and cherished the creed of that Church with a love and veneration which find their true exponent in the lives of those who have come under her influence.

The funeral arrangements have not been completed this morning. Peace to her soul and rest for the inanimate form as they shall repose one in the bosom of her God, the other in our beautiful Cemetery; and may the boundless grace of the King console and comfort the aged husband and the son who were ever solicitous for her welfare and kind in every sweet relation.

To Cleanse the System

TEACHERS INSTITUTE.

Now in Session at the Maysville High School.

GOOD ATTENDANCE YESTERDAY

The Institute opened with singing, the religious exercises being led by Rev. Howard T. Cree. Mr. Cree gave a very interesting and impressive address concerning the development of the spiritual as well as the physical and intellectual parts of the child's nature.

In the first period Mr. Willis took up the discussion of Mental Science. His talk was excellent. He showed that some of the natural faculties of the mind, viz. to appear at our best, to rebel at authority, to exaggerate, to have faith, to imitate, to be recognized and remembered and to cling to life, should be faithfully studied by the teacher in the pupil and brought into practical use in the education of the mind. The true method of teaching is in harmony with the development of the child's mind and in order to follow this method the teacher must study his pupils and familiarize himself with each pupil's needs.

After recess "Grammar" was taken up. Mr. Pollitt thinks the textbook should not be introduced until the fifth grade. Messrs. Kay and George Turnipseed differed from him, maintaining that at least some work in this branch should be done earlier. Mr. Kay and the Instructor discussed Parsing—its uses and abuses. Mr. Berry very cleverly presented his method of diagramming. Mr. Wilson suggested some good methods for varying the work and thus keeping up the interest on the part of the pupils. Mr. Willis in a resume of the subject gave some good methods of teaching correct English. Thorough knowledge of English is of a great deal more importance to us than a knowledge of any other language. Misses Anna Hudson and Alice Dorsey and Mr. W. T. Pollitt were appointed a Committee on Resolutions.

The Institute adjourned for noon. During the first period of the afternoon session the Instructor, under the head of "School Management," gave the teachers some helpful hints on study. He urged them to take up some special line of study for self-improvement if possible to create enthusiasm in their schools. These are some of the rules given for home study:

1. Study a few things at a time.
2. Study each every day.
3. Put your whole mind on it.
4. Study human nature.
5. Be liberal and broad in your work.
6. Accept a truth from whatever source gleaned.

During the recess the teachers repaired to the front of the High School and had their picture taken.

Mr. Willis made the subject of "Applications of Percentage" very clear in his talk on Arithmetic. The Superintendent reported the condition of the Teachers Library. There are now on hands 35 volumes purchased at a cost of $149.45. The selection of books is good, and the Superintendent earnestly solicits more interest in reading these books on the part of the teachers.

After the assignment of subjects for Thursday's session the Institute adjourned. Additional enrollment, Miss Mary J. Nelson.

A New York promoter has written to Governor Bradley, saying that he represents men with many millions of capital, who desire to purchase iron furnaces and ore lands, and asking information of any such property in Kentucky.

LAST NIGHT'S BALL.

Never Was There a More Successful One Given in Neptune Hall.

Last night's ball given by the Maysville Orchestra was a pronounced success in every way.

The weather was propitious for the ladies and ladies who love the graceful dance, and the prime movers in the affair are to be once more congratulated for so successful an evening of pleasure.

The Orchestra was never heard to a better advantage. The ensemble of tone was symphonic, the perfection of technique was visible in execution and the pure delight of a program in which the dance is a sharer of the glorious sounds as heard last night.

The toilets of the ladies were dainty, airy and cooling, and the fair wearers thereof were as beautiful as the rose which aways with exquisite grace in the breeze of June or September.

Many strangers were present, and the exclamations of delight over the music is additional reason why we should be proud of this our Orchestra.

May it long flourish here.
